Introduction

Population: Community Resource Coordination Groups (CRCGs) serve children and youth, adults, and all ages. Who CRCGs serve is based on the needs of the community.

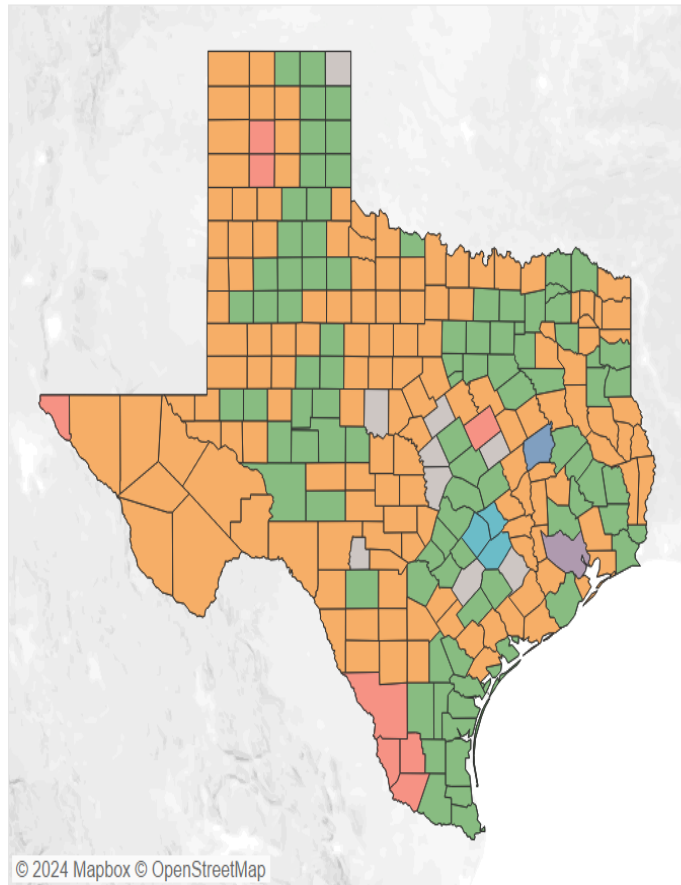

Time Frame: This dashboard displays current information about where CRCGs are located and who CRCGs serve.

Updates: Quarterly

Overview

CRCGs are county-based groups of local partners and community members that work with parents, caregivers, youth, and adults to identify and coordinate services and supports, including behavioral health, basic needs, and caregiver support. They help people whose needs can't be met by one single agency and who would benefit from interagency coordination.

This dashboard displays maps that show the counties in Texas that CRCGs are located in, and the population served by CRCGs.
